
Runtime includes each horizon's training and evaluation run; deterministic references are excluded because they have no seed-level training time.